REASONS

to Hire an Experienced
Spinal Cord Injury Lawyer

Complete paralysis isn't the only result of a spinal cord injury.

There are other symptoms that can arise, such as numbness, partial loss of mobility and more. The devastating effects can be felt way into the future, too, in the case of paraplegic or quadriplegic men who may face fertility issues as a result of the accident.

It's not a stretch to say that a spinal cord injury can change your life in a split second, whether originating from a violent assault, slip and fall, or car accident. What follows could involve weeks, months and even years of rehab, pain and job loss. These types of injuries are particularly devastating because they involve any kind of trauma to the spine that either damages it or severs it.

On top of the physical burdens associated with this injury, many victims are hit with an emotional toll too. While in shock, they are trying to deal with their injuries, facing an uncertain future. This is why so many quietly accept the insurance company's less-than-fair check. If this has happened to you, know this: you can and do deserve more. That's because the outcome of your injury is not always known at the start. In fact, spinal cord injuries can and do worsen over time, putting you in an even more dire financial situation.

This is why you need an experienced Bakersfield spinal cord injury lawyer who will work hard to secure fair and full compensation for you no matter what level of injury you have suffered.

Check out these important reasons why you should hire an experienced spinal cord injury lawyer in Bakersfield.

Spinal cord injuries are some of the most complex and serious injuries one can suffer. Choosing an attorney who specializes in this area is critical.

Complex Nature

Spinal cord injuries are some of the most complex and serious injuries one can suffer. Choosing an attorney who specializes in this area is critical. They can go after the person responsible and make sure they are held accountable, fighting for the money you need to address medical expenses, pain and suffering, on-going treatment and lost wages.

A spinal cord injury attorney will protect your family when you face a long road to recovery. There are many expenses that can result in far-reaching financial burdens for families after a loved one has suffered a serious spinal injury, such as:

- ✓ Post-Discharge Physical Therapy
- ✓ Home Modifications
- ✓ Fertility Treatments for Men
- ✓ Adapted Vehicles/Driving Controls
- ✓ Standing Frames

Expertise

A spinal cord injury lawyer's experience can be the secret weapon you need to engage in battle with the insurance company. An aggressive approach is what's needed here, as the insurance companies will fight back just as hard. Let your lawyer do this for you, as you are in no physical or emotional condition to do it yourself.

In addition to being one of the most traumatic, a spinal cord injury case is also one of the most expensive.

Your lawyer has experience dealing with a wide spectrum of these types of cases, injuries, circumstances and responsible parties. For example, if your injury arose from a faulty or defective product, the manufacturer of that product can be held accountable for what happened to you. Another example: you fell at work due to negligently unsafe conditions. If it can be proven that your employer deliberately caused the unsafe condition or failed to fix it right away, the company could be held responsible.

Claim Value

If you're like most people, you don't know the first thing about how fair a settlement offer is or not, or even how to value your claim. This is yet another reason to let your attorney and doctors do the math, as there are a multitude of factors that are involved in the process of valuing a claim, such as:

- ✓ Analysis of injuries
- ✓ Assessment of pain and suffering
- ✓ Insurance company strategies
- ✓ Estimates of future medical needs

In addition to being one of the most traumatic, a spinal cord injury case is also one of the most expensive. Medical experts must be consulted with to evaluate your condition and estimate the future costs of your medical care.
