5 KEY

Qualities to Look For in a

Personal Injury Lawyer

Unfortunately, bad things do happen to good people. Lives often change in an instant at the hands of someone else's negligence. Whether you were injured by a distracted or drunk driver's actions or experienced a spinal cord injury in a slip and fall on someone else's property, these instances cause serious, devastating and sometimes lifelong injuries. The consequences can be grave, made worse by the lack of money to get the best medical care and legal attention possible.

When confronted with a personal injury, you need a qualified personal injury lawyer to represent your best interests. Here at Kuzyk Law, part of what we do is educate our clients and potential clients. Check out these five key qualities to look for in a personal injury lawyer in Lancaster:

1 Compassionate Care and Legal Advice

The best personal injury lawyers don't view their profession as strictly a business. They look at it as a helping profession, whereby they are motivated by the opportunity to solve problems for those who have been injured. Good personal injury lawyers keep the best interests of their clients in mind at all times. This often means working long hours, doing research, filing documents, meeting with clients and their families, and generally going above and beyond to reach a successful settlement or verdict.

2 Respect of Peers

Look for personal injury lawyers in Lancaster that have earned the respect of their peers, identified as the best in their profession by local, regional and national groups, listings, articles, journals, and more. True respect can't be bought. It's demonstrated by consistently providing successful results, accumulating many years in the field serving the same location with the same dedicated services.

3 Extensive Experience

Personal injury lawyers with many years of experience under their belts demonstrate a proven ability to make a name for themselves in the field of law. Look at their track record for settlements as well as verdicts won in courtroom victories. Those who have the knowledge and natural talent to handle your case are best positioned for success without the need for a long, drawn-out court battle. Insurance companies know which lawyers won't just take the easy settlement every time and which ones are prepared to take the case as far as it will go.

4 Availability

A personal injury lawyer who truly cares about you will make the time to be available to answer your questions. Attorneys worth their salt will go the extra mile to educate you on the legal process and explain what's going on rather than putting you off to the side. This compassionate availability is what sets the great personal injury lawyers in Lancaster apart from the so-so ones.

5 Empowerment

Ideally, you want someone who will take care of all the little details that you can't handle at this stressful point in your life AND empower you to make the big decisions after informing you of the many considerations. Let your lawyer handle the filing deadlines and all the other general details that go into building a case. You understandably have many questions about medical bills, lost income, health insurance forms, etc. Trying to figure it all out when you're in pain or watching a loved one in pain is overwhelming. Good personal injury attorneys are willing to explain to you in detail how the claims process works.
